MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR & DIRECTOR

Dear Chippewa County Community Members,

Thank you. Because of your investment in our community, as of June 30, 2020 the Community Foundation of Chippewa County has over $20 million in total assets. Because of you, more than $2 million in contributions were granted this past year to help support and make important investments in our great community.

As we struggled with the impacts of COVID-19, we were able to provide funds to those that needed support quickly. We could not have done so without the generous giving and foresight of donors that have made permanent contributions to the foundation.

Gifts from you have a lasting impact in our Chippewa County Communities. Since 2001, the Foundation has helped donors turn their generosity into support and philanthropy. We would like to thank all of those who have played a role in the formation and growth of the Foundation… and most especially you!

Your gifts make our work possible.

With heartfelt thanks,

Lori Geissler, Board Chair      Jill Herriges, Executive Director

OUR MISSION
To enable donors to achieve their philanthropic goals, to meet changing community needs, thereby benefiting the communities, people, and other nonprofit organizations of Chippewa County.

OUR VISION
The Community Foundation of Chippewa County will be recognized as a trusted leader by encouraging philanthropy, delivering the highest quality donor services, and being a collaborative partner and leader in addressing important issues that will strengthen Chippewa County now and well into the future.

We will accomplish this by listening and staying connected to donors, maintaining trust and credibility, and remaining flexible in our approach.

Deb Buckli’s parents met during World War II. Earl “Morry” Morrison served on a U.S. Navy minesweeper, and Hazel “Hess” Morrison enlisted in the Army Nursing Corps. Their wartime romance led to marriage, a family of two children and a successful business.

In 1956, the couple settled in Chippewa Falls, where Earl and his brother, Roy, owned and operated Morrison Implement, a John Deere dealership. “As busy as they were, they would spend endless hours volunteering,” Deb shared. “I just thought it was a blessing that they would do that.”

Earl passed away in February 1999 and Hazel in May 2019. Deb, who lives in Chippewa Falls, and her brother Donald Morrison, who is a professor of philosophy at Rice University in Houston, Texas, set up the Earl and Hazel “Hess” Morrison Fund. The unrestricted fund, which endowed last November, will support grants to Chippewa County nonprofit and charitable organizations.

Earl belonged to several organizations, including the Chippewa Falls Rotary Club, Tripoli Shriners, Elks Lodge #1326, Masonic Lodge #176 and UW-Stout Alumni. He and Hazel were active at First Presbyterian Church.

Deb remembers helping her father deliver roses for a Rotary Club fundraiser. “He was the top Rotary rose salesman. He was so proud of that,” she said. Deb and her two sons helped her mother deliver food for Meals on Wheels. Hazel, a registered nurse, also volunteered with the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Open Door Clinic, Girl Scouts, Literacy Volunteers of America and a student mentoring program.

Deb, a teller at Northwestern Bank, helps at a Chippewa Falls food pantry and Agnes’ Table herself. “My parents showed me the importance of volunteering,” she said.

ENDOWED FUNDS - PERMANENTLY RESTRICTED

BERGEN FAMILY FUND

Max Bergen served as a B-17 tail gunner during World War II. While flying over Germany on his 22nd bombing mission, his plane was shot down. He and his crew were captured and held as prisoners of war until liberated by Patton’s Third Army in 1945.

His experiences – growing up in poverty without his murdered father, fighting in WWII, spending 14 months as a POW – could have made him bitter but didn’t, his sons said.

“It was important for him to give back as he felt blessed in so many ways,” Rick Bergen said.

“In tribute to their father, Mark Bergen of Holcombe, Robb Bergen of Cameron and Rick of Chetek, established the Bergen Family Fund. The endowed fund supports health and human service projects.

“When we explained the fund, he thought it was the greatest thing since sliced bread,” Mark said. “Even in his final days he asked about it.”

“I hope that it will inspire other people as an example to give back unselfishly,” Robb said.

Max, who grew up in Cameron, died at age 96 in April. His wife of 70 years, Florence, passed in 2017. They spent their last years in the Wisconsin Veterans Home at Chippewa Falls, where Max would talk and pray with residents.

Mark Wilson, he received a Purple Heart for his 14 months as a POW – could have made him bitter but didn’t, his sons said.

“Dad’s generation has been the greatest generation so far. So many ordinary people were thrown into extraordinary situations. Dad really rose to the occasion,” Robb said.

“It’s hard to live up to, in a way. We try,” Mark said.

"War liked the idea of someone getting a helping hand."
NORM AND MARY ELLEN KELLER ENDOWMENT FUND

Norm and Mary Ellen Keller want to assure everybody in Chippewa County can enjoy the parks, music, and arts as they have. “We are interested in doing what we can for people who do not have access to places others take for granted,” Norm Keller said.

The Kellers, who live on Lake Wissota, opened a field of interest fund with the Community Foundation of Chippewa County last fall. The fund supports the following: programs that help financially challenged families to attend cultural and recreational events in the county; major improvements to Irvine, Riverfront and Erickson parks in Chippewa Falls; programs and major improvements at the Heyde Center for the Arts; and programs and improvements at county parks that help medically or physically challenged individuals enjoy the amenities.

“Our big emphasis is on places that are free to the public, and especially in terms of children and adults who can’t take advantage financially or physically of some of the places,” Mary Ellen said.

“We like to support what we can,” her husband said, which has included sponsoring a small-animal cage at Irvine Park and the Riverfront Park fountain.

They enjoy listening to music at Riverfront. “I have no music ability. That doesn’t mean I can’t enjoy music. Riverfront Park allows anybody that enjoys live music an opportunity to do so,” Norm said.

Erickson Park, near Glen Loch, features a handicapped-accessible fishing pier, boat launch and boardwalk. “We love to see people using it,” Mary Ellen said.

They have three sons and four grandchildren. Norm headed up the Eau Claire office of Blue Cross Blue Shield before retiring in 2003.

“I think we’re just trying to provide a real sense of community,” he said. “The Community Foundation provides an easy and efficient way to support our community now and in the future through legacy giving.

The fund will provide cultural and recreational opportunities to county residents, with a focus on those who are financially or physically challenged.

Peggy grew up in Chippewa Falls (1962 graduate of Chi Hi) and though she lived several other places during her life, she found her base and strength in the strong friendships she made in Chippewa. She loved art, music, architecture, and travel. She taught Spanish, was a realtor, and worked for architecture magazines. Peggy greatly enjoyed working with children, even that difficult in-between age in middle school.

Outside of work, Peggy’s most rewarding experiences were with local community groups dedicated to preserving local architecture. While living in Saint Paul, she volunteered with the Minnesota Historical Society researching nominations to the National Register of Historic Places. She was a member of the Summit Hill Association that worked to preserve the historic character of the neighborhood. She brought that expertise with her when she moved to Sacramento, California and helped pass ordinances to preserve Sacramento’s neighborhoods.

Peggy was diagnosed with progressive multiple sclerosis in her late 40s, and was forced to give up many activities that gave her pleasure, including travel. But she never lost her love of music and architecture, or her strong opinions - once saying that she couldn’t believe the Baroque period gave rise to such wonderful music and terrible architecture.

Zwiefelhofer, who was severely injured in the accident, belonged to Troop #3345 last year.

“So many people, organizations, and businesses showed their support during and throughout this very difficult time. Giving back is central to the Foundation’s work, and we are grateful to have been able to assist with the process to forever honor Troop #3055 through the creation of an endowed fund,” said Jill Herriges, Executive Director of the Community Foundation of Chippewa County.

“The fund spreads awareness of Girl Scouts,” Kelley said. Scholarship applicants write about how Scouting has influenced them. They need to be college-bound, whether to a technical or four-year school. “When the girls are writing the essay, it helps them reflect on what Girl Scouts gave them,” Kelley said. “Some you could tell had green blood.”

This year’s applicants wrote about building friendships, developing leadership skills, and helping others in the essays.

Girl Scouts allows girls to try new activities, learn business management skills, set and complete goals, and build confidence, these leaders said.

“It gives them something to be part of,” added Gerrish, the mother of three Scouts. Their troops have participated in service activities such as preparing meals at Agnes’ Table, making cards and ornaments for nursing home residents and earning money to buy Christmas gifts for children who wouldn’t get any otherwise.

“Girls in Troop #3055 have become a close-knit group. While girls often drop out as they grow older, these Scouts are staying involved as they move on to middle school,” Kelley said. “I think the girls are going to do a lot of great things. They’re motivated. They want to keep giving back.”

Kelley, who teaches Art at Halmstad Elementary School, has decided to leave Scouting, but she, Brian and their daughter Terra remain close with the troop’s families.

“The families are doing as well as can be expected. The support helps. You just find ways to move forward,” Kelley said. “I think the girls are going to do a lot of great things. They’re motivated. They want to keep giving back.”

Kelley, who teaches Art at Halmstad Elementary School, has decided to leave Scouting, but she, Brian and their daughter Terra remain close with the troop’s families.

“We are still giving donations. People are still thinking of us,” said Robin Kelley, leader of Troop #3055 and one of the fundholders. “That’s very humbling.”

The fund honors Jayna Kelley, Autumn Helgeson, Haylee Hickle, and Haylee’s mother, Sara Jo Schneider. Sadly, they were engaged in community service, picking up litter along a road, when they died in a vehicle crash.

Each year, the fund will award a scholarship to one Chippewa Falls Senior High School senior who was a Girl Scout at some point. Jillian Raschke, a 2020 Chi-Hi graduate, received the first scholarship, totaling about $1,900.

“It reminds the community who gave so much in 2018 that we can give back in a positive way,” Kelley said.

That means a lot to Kelley and her husband, Brian. “It is important to Brian and I that Jayna’s death was not in vain,” she said.

“We want the little girls and mother to be remembered. The fund gives back, and we won’t forget them,” said fundholder Paula Gerrish of Chippewa Falls. She is the leader of Troops #3345 and #3101; Madalyn Zwiefelhofer, who was severely injured in the accident, belonged to Troop #3345 last year.

“So many people, organizations, and businesses showed their support during and throughout this very difficult time. Girl Scouts allows girls to try new activities, learn business management skills, set and complete goals, and build confidence, these leaders said.

“It gives them a safe place to be a girl,” Kelley said, noting Haylee Hickle stayed with her troop even after moving to a different area.

“It gives them something to be part of,” added Gerrish, the mother of three Scouts. Their troops have participated in service activities such as preparing meals at Agnes’ Table, making cards and ornaments for nursing home residents and earning money to buy Christmas gifts for children who wouldn’t get any otherwise.

“The families are doing as well as can be expected. The support helps. You just find ways to move forward,” Kelley said. “I hope the fund reminds people to think about what could happen with the choices they make. Every time we remind people of the tragedy, we remind people to make better decisions.”

In the midst of tragedy, Chippewa Falls and surrounding communities poured out their support for the Scouts. Their donations built the Girl Scout Troop #3055 Memorial Fund.

Facilities. Created in memory and the lack of affordable overwhelming expenses is compounded by the complexity of addiction control addiction through skills learned in treatment centers. “I won’t be defined by who I am when I’m weak.” I’m going to become a junkie and throw away every important thing in my life.” But addicts can learn to bring us to tears. For years, our relationship with Hunter was strained, but in his last days, we made amends.” Addiction changes the brain’s chemistry – it’s a disease just like cancer. Heroin is a demon; its grip is fierce. Hunter told us that he wished he could “stop the chaos.” Addiction carries a stigma that drug use is a lifestyle choice. But not one addict that he admired his engineering skills. He was intelligent, but school and structured learning were not his forte. Maybe because his drug use started in middle school and continued for over a decade. Hunter’s addiction stripped away his mother and father’s firstborn son; it took the love and companionship of his only brother; most our son’s name to assist others who struggle with addiction and associated mental health issues in the Chippewa Valley.

Hunter was a happy child who loved trains, dinosaurs, and animals – especially dogs. As he grew older, he loved the outdoors, especially Lake Wissota, where he lived almost all his life. He loved waterboarding, hunting, fishing, and canoeing in the Boundary Waters with his friend Devin. He enjoyed documentaries and The Discovery and History Channels. In school, he liked CAD class, where his teachers admired his engineering skills. He was intelligent, but school and structured learning were not his forte. Maybe because his drug use started in middle school and continued for over a decade.

Hunter’s addiction stripped away his mother and father’s firstborn son; it took the love and companionship of his only brother; most devastatingly, it left his six-year-old daughter without her father, whom she truly loved. “We had hopes of fishing and hunting trips. We see things everywhere, every day that remind us of Hunter and whom she truly loved. “We had hopes of fishing and hunting trips. RESPONSE-RECOVERY-REBUILD FUND

The Community Foundation of Chippewa County (CFCC) has been supporting nonprofit organizations crucial to the well-being of Chippewa County for close to 20 years. Now, in the unprecedented time of the COVID-19 pandemic, these organizations need support more than ever. The Response-Recovery-Rebuild Fund (RRR Fund) was created to provide nonprofit organizations with flexible resources to address the impact of the COVID-19 public health crisis and will remain in existence to address future crisis situations in Chippewa County.

“This assistance means the world to us and the people we serve,” says Gen Segal, Executive Director of the Family Support Center. “This is a very dangerous time for survivors of domestic abuse; they are literally trapped more than ever before. This funding will help us sustain vital safety planning, counseling and 24-hour crisis line assistance services which survivors desperately need.”

The RRR Fund was opened in April of 2020 to support immediate, mid-term and long-term response, recovery and rebuilding efforts in times of crisis with the goal of identifying local needs and gaps in funding and then assembling and applying grants funds where they are most critically needed to relieve distress in our area. CFCC provided the funds needed to establish the RRR Fund, then community organizations and businesses, as well as many individuals supported the fund by sending generous donations to increase the grant dollars available. During the current COVID-19 crisis, grant applications are being reviewed on an ongoing basis with funding decisions being made monthly to allow for appropriate funding to be distributed in the time of need.

The RRR Fund takes a collaborative and strategic approach for addressing community needs through times of crisis. Many local businesses were affected in the spring of 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic. An immediate community need identified was the local food pantries. Their food shelves started to become bare and the needs of families grew beyond food necessities and were seeking additional supplies such as hygiene products.

“We are able to purchase necessities such as diapers, laundry detergent, female supplies, cleaning supplies and hygiene products. Fulfilling these basic needs has literally brought tears to the faces of some of the people who have never frequented our pantry before,” says Jeanee Robert, Treasurer of the Chippewa Valley Family Support Center. “This is a very dangerous time for survivors of domestic abuse; they are literally trapped more than ever before. This funding will help us sustain vital safety planning, counseling and 24-hour crisis line assistance services which survivors desperately need.”

As the COVID-19 health crisis continues to affect our local communities, the RRR Fund will continue to work with nonprofits and charitable organizations that have been impacted by the pandemic. “We have taken this action because we know that many local nonprofit organizations are and will continue to face an increasing demand for services and supplies,” says Jill Herriges, Executive Director of the Community Foundation of Chippewa County. “As a permanent public charitable grant maker, CFCC is here for the long-term and will go the distance to support our communities.”

PASS-THROUGH FUNDS

Pass-through funds are non-endowed funds that are established, usually for a short term, to receive gifts to be used for a specific purpose.

HONORARIUMS

A wedding, retirement, anniversary, birthday, a special memory of an event, or a person who touched your life are times when people can be honored with a gift. The following honorariums were received during our fiscal year that ended June 30, 2020.

MEMORIALS

Many have found that a fitting way to remember a special someone is through a gift in memory of that person. During times of great sorrow and times of great joy, we look to honor those who will be forever dear to us. A gift in memory of a loved one contributes to a bright future while remembering our past. The following people were remembered with a gift to the Foundation during our fiscal year that ended June 30, 2020.

"The grant was used to purchase Q-ball, which is a wireless foam covered microphone. It enabled children who are generally uncomfortable speaking in public to be more confident. It was also a great tool for classroom control, as the only person allowed to speak was the person with the ball.”
Barbara Eckwright,
Holy Ghost Third Grade Teacher

The Cornell Visitors Center serves their community in a variety of ways, catering to the needs of tourists and locals alike. Seeing a need to make current and historical information more accessible, the Center used their grant from the Community Foundation of Chippewa County to purchase audio and visual equipment, media storage, and a printer. These items met the immediate needs of tourists who are hiking, biking, and camping while also highlighting the historical artifacts for everyone to learn about the community.

Keeping visitors safe throughout their stay, the TV provides real-time weather updates, news, and information to anyone with limited cell service. Many times a day, people stop in for help with planning their activities and the TV allows them to make informed decisions based on weather conditions. The lack of cell service also poses a safety concern for campers in the neighboring state park and the TV provides immediate information in the event of severe weather.

In addition to the TV, the Center purchased a DVD player to show historical photos and local event videos. “Cornell and the surrounding area has a great historical past. Young visitors will be able to view these documents and pictures in an engaging format,” says Judy Talbot, curator at the Cornell Visitors Center. “Although many of the pictures are in books and pamphlets, this equipment makes it easier to view; giving more information in a smaller amount of time.”

The grant also allowed for the purchase of archive materials to organize photos, newspaper articles, and pamphlets in binders so they are easily searchable. The addition of the printer gives the Center the ability to photocopy items for visitors to take with them such as trail maps, yearbook photos, and newspaper articles. The Center is also able to save money by printing their own informational brochures as they need them. “People come in and they don’t want to leave. There is so much to see and learn about the history of Cornell,” says Talbot.
Otter Lake is one of the finest fishing lakes in Wisconsin, boasting numerous fish species living among the islands and estuary. Along with giving the community a beautiful fishing location, a county campground and day park are located on the northern end of the lake. The park offers a swimming beach, volleyball area, horseshoe pits, and a playground which are enjoyed by campers and community members alike. With many children using the playground each day, the Otter Lake Booster Club noticed a need to update the equipment to comply with current safety regulations.

The original metal playground equipment included a climbing tower, merry-go-round, swings, and slide. All had been at the park for many years. In order to bring the playground up to current regulations, the slide and merry-go-round would need to be removed and safer equipment installed in its place. The Booster Club learned of a local playground that was upgrading base material and had decided to add new playground equipment as well. The Booster Club was offered the piece of playground equipment free of charge if they facilitated the removal and transport.

Once disassembled, it was apparent that the steps, a few safety rails, and two slides needed to be replaced in order for the equipment to meet safety regulations. Additionally, new wood chip base material and a containment border would need to be added to the playground area. Bids were requested but once the moving plans were in place and it was time to order the extra materials, the cost had increased and it was no longer within the Booster Club’s budget. Already in the removal stage, they had to continue the project with the choices of adjusting the existing budget from the lake aerators that keep the fish population healthy or seeking additional funding. “The grant money from the Community Foundation of Chippewa County really saved the project because we didn’t have to adjust funds and then wonder if we would have enough for the aerators later this year,” says Dan Liske, President of the Otter Lake Booster Club.

After receiving the grant, the additional pieces of equipment were ordered and the structure was rebuilt at the park with the help of many community members. Finally, the new foundation of wood chips and containment border was added around all of the equipment, creating a larger and inviting space for anyone using the park.
Community Needs Grant

L.E. Phillips Career Development Center - Blessings in a Box

The L.E. Phillips Career Development Center serves those in Chippewa County who are experiencing poverty and crisis. The grant money is used to stock the Blessing Box, a mini pantry outside the office available to anyone who needs it at any time.

“We have seen people who don’t want to come in, who are maybe ashamed that they need assistance, or maybe others who are unable to come in during our hours of operation so they are able to stop in the evening or at night to see what is in the box,” says Jennifer Barrett, Director of Homeless Services at the Center.

The majority of the Community Foundation of Chippewa County grant was used to purchase easy-to-make meals and meals for families such as pasta sauce and noodles, as well as water in the summer months to help folks in need stay hydrated. The grant has also provided items other than food, such as feminine hygiene products, denture care items, and hand sanitizer. These are commonly asked for by the individuals the Center serves but are not frequently donated.

Being able to stock the Blessing Box with the items people need has helped numerous individuals within the community. “Just in the month of June, we were able to help 99 unique households,” says Barrett. “In other cites, you see the homeless population gathering in various locations but it’s a population we don’t see in Chippewa Falls, yet it’s very real here too.”

WAYS TO GIVE
